Pierce Divorce Case Disposed Of in County Court.

The Pierce divorce case, which had been a feature of the March term of county court, was finally disposed of yesterday by Judge Butler. Merle L. Pierce, sued for a divorce from James A. Pierce, the case being tried during the month of May. Decision was reserved and the petitioner granted temporary alimony and yesterday the parties were in court because of a petition brought for contempt proceedings against the defendant. The petition was dismissed and a bill ordered granted to the petitioner for intolerable severity, she being given the custody of an adopted child and the Austin farm place free of encumbrance, together with the household goods. The parties are from Warren.

In city court this forenoon Henry Bowers pleaded guilty to intoxication and was given a sentence of thirty days in jail.

William Chris and family of Nashua, N. H., are visiting in this city and Barre for several weeks, arriving yesterday.

Mrs. A. S. Baker of Montreal, P. Q., left yesterday afternoon for her home after a few days' visit in the city with her daughter, Mrs. F. Barnby Leach, of Bailey avenue.

In city court to-day Floyd Baker, aged 10, was adjudged a delinquent child and was ordered committed to the industrial school, after which he was placed on probation. Baker was charged with breaking into Menard's barber shop early in the week and stealing about 40 cents. Frank Dow of Franklin, N. H., admitted a first offense of intoxication and on failing to pay his fine and costs was sent to the county jail.

Sale Friday and Saturday at the Vaughan Store.

Excursion to Montreal, July 3 and 4. See adv. on page 7.

Clansmen will please leave their due cards with the financial secretary on or before July 3 for semi-annual audit. Per auditors.

A BOWER OF BEAUTY.

Is the Flower Show on Church Street—Peonies Chiefly Figuring.

A flower shower of surprising proportions was the first floral exhibit of the civic department of the Barre Woman's club, which opened in the Church street schoolhouse Thursday afternoon. Peonies bulked large in the exhibits, but there were rare specimens of other floral growths generously loaned for the occasion. In an east room of the building the flowers were charmingly arranged on improvised tables and scarcely had the doors opened ere visitors began to arrive. From noon until 6 o'clock last evening many people passed through the aisles and it is to be doubted whether anyone who attended the exhibit had any notion what an attractive showing of flowers had been assembled. Visitors were to be admitted to the schoolhouse again this afternoon from 12 o'clock until 6.

Soon after noon yesterday the judges, William Greig and James Lewis, Jr., began their official inspection of the flowers and for upward of two hours their time was well spent in examining the numerous specimens. Both judges are familiar with horticulture, possessing knowledge of flowers beyond the average owner of small garden plots. Hence it is to be assumed that their decisions were altogether apt and well met. A committee consisting of Dr. D. C. Jarvis and Mrs. Norman J. Morrison had charge of the exhibit and every effort was made to give the visitors ample opportunity for examining the specimens. All exhibits were marked by a card on which appeared the name and address of the exhibitor.

Beautiful specimens were exhibited by Mrs. Nye of North Montpelier, Misses Robinson and Beckett and Mrs. Seaver of Williamstown. Together they introduced varieties that few of the visitors who inspected the exhibit had ever seen. Along with the flowers shown by local producers, their exhibits tended to show what can be accomplished in the way of flower culture on a small scale.

The exhibit was one of a series planned by the civic department during the summer and early autumn. Twenty-six classes of peonies were shown. A rose exhibition scheduled for later in the season and sometime in August, sweet peas, gladioli and phlox will be exhibited. Days in mid-September are reserved for the exhibition of dahlias.

Among the awards made yesterday were the following:

Double peonies—Three best double white, 1st, Mrs. William Nye, North Montpelier, 2d, Mrs. H. W. Scott, Richardson street; three best light pink, 1st, Mrs. Alexander Duncan, East street, 2d, Mrs. William Nye; three best deep pink, 1st, Mrs. Elmer Taft, 2d, Mrs. William Nye; three best crimson, 1st, Mrs. William Nye, 2d, Mrs. Paul Leavitt.
